November 2, 2008-Commemoration of All the Faithful Departed (All Souls)

From the Pulpit

Next week we are going to have a special guest homilist – Msgr. Michael Corona from the United States. Msgr. Corona is going to speak on stewardship at all the Masses, and then after Mass there will be the opportunity to sign up for the various organizations at our parish. I encourage you to take the time to prayerfully consider how you as a Christian, can use your time, talent and treasure in order to serve Christ.

November is the month that we remember in a special way those who have gone before us. We pray for the dead in the hope that they will be with God in His kingdom. That brings us to the subject of Purgatory. Purgatory is not always very well understood, but I assure you there are reasons for why we believe what we believe, and the reasons are as follows:

A fundamental truth of the Christian faith is that we will not sin when we are in heaven. In fact, not only will we not sin when we are in heaven, we cannot even have the stain of sin upon us when entering God's kingdom because nothing unclean can enter the kingdom of God. If God's kingdom is perfect, then it necessarily follows that we need to be made perfect before we can enter His kingdom. But of course, the reality is that very few of us are even close to perfection when we leave this world. Therefore, between the sinfulness of this life, and the glorification that we will experience in heaven, we must be made pure. Between death and glory there is a purification.

The Catechism of the Catholic Church states: "All who die in God's grace and friendship, but still imperfectly purified, are indeed assured of their eternal salvation; but after death they undergo purification, so as to achieve the holiness necessary to enter the joy of heaven. The Church gives the name Purgatory to this final purification of the elect, which is entirely different from the punishment of the damned" (CCC 1030-1).

The concept of a purification after death from sin and the consequences of sin can also be found in New Testament passages such as 1 Corinthians 3:11-15, Matthew 5:25-26, and 12:31-32.

The doctrine of purgatory, or final purification, is not something that is relatively new. It has been a part of the true faith since even before the time of Christ. The Jews already believed it by the time Jesus came as evidenced by the Old Testament passage found in 2 Maccabees 12:41-46, as well as other pre-Christian Jewish works.

"Orthodox Jews to this day believe in the final purification, and for eleven months after the death of a loved one they pray a prayer called the Mourner's Qaddish for their loved one's purification. Jews, Catholics, and Eastern Orthodox have always historically proclaimed the reality of the final purification. It was not until the Protestant Reformers came in the 1500s that anyone denied this doctrine" (Catholic Answers, Inc. 1996).

If you think about it, it wouldn't make sense to pray for someone who died if there is no Purgatory. Because if there is no Purgatory, then that means that the person is definitely either in heaven or in hell. Either way, the prayer isn't going to do the person much good.

Some people think that the Catholic Church has this elaborate doctrine of purgatory worked out, but the truth of the matter is that there are only three things that are essential components of the doctrine: "1) that a purification after death exists, 2) that it involves some kind of pain or suffering, and 3) that the purification can be assisted by the prayers and offerings of the living to God. Other ideas, such that purgatory is a particular place in the afterlife or that it takes time to accomplish, are speculations rather than doctrines" (Catholic Answers, Inc. 1996). With these components of the doctrine of purgatory in mind, it necessarily follows that to pray for those who have died is very important. This is why we always pray for the dead at every Mass. Let us then remember all those who have gone before us and pray that they may be with God in His kingdom.

God Bless,
Fr. Paul Ballien

ANNOUNCEMENTS

Holy Father's Prayer Intention for November 2008

General: That the testimony of love offered by the Saints, may fortify Christians in their service to God and neighbor, imitating Christ who came not to be served but to serve.

Mission: That Christian communities in Asia, contemplating the face of Christ, may find the most suitable way to announce Him in full fidelity to the Gospel to the peoples of that vast continent so rich in culture and ancient forms of spirituality.

SUNDAY REFLECTIONS

Commemoration of all the Faithful Departed (All Souls)

Do you sometimes wonder if you'll ruin your salvation and never get to heaven? In John 6:37-40, Jesus says: "Everything that the Father gives me will come to me" He's referring to you! God the Father has given you to Jesus so that Jesus can lead you to heaven. During your baptism, our Father in heaven said to Jesus: "Here Son, take good care of this one. Make sure he/she is going to make it home to heaven okay". Jesus replied, "I will not reject anyone who comes to me, because I do your will." What the Father wants, the Father gets, unless the recipients of his love reject all of his efforts to bring them to heaven. This is equally true for your deceased loved ones. If they had any desire to be with Jesus while they were on earth, they of course wanted to be with him at the moment of death when he stood before them in the fullness of his love. When we meet Jesus face to face, everything becomes clear. We regret the sins that we have not purged from our lives, and Jesus lets us choose purgatory as the final purification process so that we can live eternally in the fullness of God's love. However, the fire of love on earth is more sanctifying than the fire of purgatory! By purifying how well we love now—loving others even when it's difficult, forgiving others as often as they sin, and giving ourselves generously to the needs of others—we are united to God's love and we are living in his kingdom here and now. St. Therese of Lisieux said that God prefers that we never experience the suffering of purgatory. "As soon as you try to please him in everything and have unshakable trust, he purifies you every moment in his love and he lets no sin remain. And then you can be sure that you will not have to go to purgatory."

For Your Reflection:

How does it feel to know that the Father has given you to Jesus? Take a little quiet prayer time to imagine yourself sitting on the Father's lap. What would you like to tell him? When you're ready to continue with the day, imagine that Jesus enters the room and the Father hands you over to him. Walk back into your everyday life with Jesus.

Name some of the worries you've had about your salvation. What indications that Jesus is taking good care to make sure you get to Heaven?
